Pittsburgh Steelers Champs Again

Well, another exciting season has come and gone, and we want to say thank you to all of this year's subscribers, and we look forward to another season of stats and fun. We have lots of new things planned for next season, and we cannot wait to share them with you. Throughout the off-season, we will be sending out information to keep you up to date on all the changes and improvements. Meanwhile, we will be working non-stop to get these changes in place and ready to roll before the start of next season. Now, on to the Super Bowl!!!

While we did not care who won this contest, we were happy for the Steelers. They had risen to the number one spot in our Performance Rankings, and this Super Bowl win just reinforced their rightful place at the top. Below, we have included a table of our final Performance Rankings. As far as this game went, the Steelers earned Green PossessionPoints in both Offense and Net Effect. Pittsburgh had a 136 Offense and a 50 Net Effect. They held the Cardinals to a Yellow 86 PossessionPoints. While the game was extremely close and exciting on the scoreboard, it was also right in line with our projections. We said in our matchup, we liked the Steelers but by only about five points – not quite the seven points that they were favored.

Again, thanks for a great year, and feel free to contact us during the offseason with any questions or suggestions you may have.
